It does not need to go to Canada to find a people that are "oppressed by taxation," Among the chief drawbacks to Cincinnati prosperity is the gross extravagance connected with the government. The expenditures of our governments are limited by nothing but the fears of those who levy and borrow. They levy all they dare, and borrow for everything for which they can find a pretext. The Canadians are, in this respect, favored above ourselves; they have but one government to tax and go in debt; while we have near half a dozen—each, if not try-ing to outdo the others in its exactions and expenditures, at least borrowing and taxing, irrespective of the burdens and liabilities imposed and created by them.

We pay $75,000 per annum-and seem des tined to do so forever-interest on a city debt for which nothing can be shown. The remaining material proceeds, if offered at open sale to-day, would not pay two years' interest upon the enormous aggregate. Two millions of dollars, or thereabout, drawn yearly from the industry of the city, is a fearful weight thrown upon it to impede its progress.

We complain of hard seasons—of lean years of trade coming one after another, disappointing the expectations of the merchant and the manufacturer. Hard seasons will always be the rule, and easy ones the exception, under such a regimen as ours. We must make up our minds to hard seasons. A million of dollars exorbitantly drawn from the lifeblood of our industry-from that which would otherwise be capital-every year, will make hard seasons and plenty of them. The burden may not this year nor next year stop the growth of the city, but it is a brake upon the wheels of its progress which will, sooner or later, wear away all its accumulated mo mentum, and bring it to a stand at last.

Our system of taxation is in theory equal view to ascertain its general effect. He who has his property in money at interest at six per cent.-which requires no protection by the State, and costs the Government nothingpays a fraction less than two per cent.; onehird of his entire income in taxes! Do they do worse than this in Canada, under British imperial oppression? Do they do worse in Italy under Austrian tyranny? We doubt We do not need to go abroad to find a well-taxed-an exceedingly well-taxed people. We may spare our tears for the crushed and impovished victims of arbitrary rule at the ends of the earth, and pour a few of them over the sad case of a people who enjoy the high prerogative of governing, taxing and ruining themselves.

We are taxed for things that we do not want and denrived of things of real necesneed an adequate and sure supply of water. Who thinks of these without, at the same time, thinking of the means to create a new debt, with its eternity of interest; while we can pay thousands of ready money out of the treasury to celebrate the Fourth of July, or to magnify a boy who happens to be the son of the Queen of England, and whose friends desire that he shall be permitted to travel through the country as a private gentleman, into a guest of the city, and the representative of the wealth and power of Great Britain.

Over taxation is the hight of cruelty, beonuse, whoever may pay the taxes, they ultimately fall upon labor. They come out of the bone and muscle of the people, and represent toil and sweat and privation. The retailer, the grocer, the butcher, the huckster, the owner of tenements, the manufacturer and the merchant, all expect to get their money back, and the weight at last, with its accumulated commissions, falls upon the shoulders of those least able to bear it—the poor; those whose names never appear on the duplicate. Our system of taxation is admirably adapted to expedite this crushing process; and it needs nothing but administrators.

whisky and female hearts of Fort Smith, and that it is silent about the admiration and emulation which the parade of the Fort Smith Rifles excited among the youthful population of Fort Smith. This doubtless was owing to the ill-judged economy of the Associated Press in not keeping a reporter at Fort Smith, competent to grasp moment-

Forcing Property on an Unwilling People. Mr. Douglas, in his stumping tour, informs the people on all occasions that the Union is threatened by two sectional parties, one incisting on Congressional intervention to prohibit slavery in Territories where the people want it, and the other demanding Congres sional intervention to force slavery upon people who don't want it. This makes out a very bad case; but Mr. Douglas, in his Dorr letter, conceded that slavery was entitled to the same protection as other property. Would Congressional legislation, to protect other property, force it upon an unwilling people? Would a law to punish tresspases on a man's farm or cattle in the Territories, force farmer and cattle apon the people?

A resident of Cayuga, N. Y., carried a cat six miles from home, and threw it into the lake, a stone about its neck. The cat arrived at his house before him.

Sanctity Incompatible with Humanity. ind, who became informed of the musical talent of Mr. Robert Heller, have heard him play the organ at one of our city churches several mornings, and were so much entertained by his command of the great capacity of that instrument, which in this country is so little understood, that they naturally wished to have the pleasure extended to more of our music-loving citizens. With this object, they proposed a public concert for the benefit of some public charity, and the Home of the Friendless, an lustitutio under the charge of ladies of the Protestan churches, was selected to be the recipient of the proceeds, Mr. Heiler declining to receive any share in them. It was supposed, of course, that any of our hurches which are consecrated to the service of Him who went about doing good, would be at the service of so benevolent an object, and the friends of the undertaking sought for the church having the finest organ and the largest capacity for an audience. But, much to their surprise, they found that some of the churches of our city are too mered to God to be used to do good to man. St. John's Episcopal Church and the Second Presbyterian Church were supposed to be well adapted to the benevolent purpose, but were regarded by those in charge as too holy for such use. The First Orthodox Congregational Church, on Seventh-street, between Central-avenue and John-street, the organ of which Mr. Heller has used in playing for the gratification of his friends, has been tendered for the concert, and it will take place there Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

We have all the respect that any one can have for the sacred character of houses of worship. We regard them as dedicated to the service of Him who went about on earth doing good to the poor, the despised, the abject, and they that have no helper, and who said "I will have mercy and not sacrifice." It may be that there are churches so fortified in numerous articles of sound doctrine, and in true apostolic succession, that they can afford to shut their doors in the faces of the poor; but it is stated on the highest authority that on the great day, when we parade our merits before the Judge of all the earth, and say "Lord we have prophesied in thy name, and in thy name cast out devils. and in thy name done many wonderful works," He will not regard these for a monent, but will try our case solely by those things which here are thought unfit to be aided by the use of St. John's and the Second Presbyterian Churches; and will say, "I was hungry, and ve gave me no meat, thirsty and let us see how it falls upon one class, with a ye gave me no drink, naked, and ye clothed out any interference from the authorities relates the following instance of the way in which the reckless and insane attempts to stop the slave-trade are used for the robbery of vessels in legitimate business:

of vessels in legitimate business.

"A respectable merchant of Salem, Mass., bought a brig here, and was about to go with her to that place, where he preferred to take out a register. She was seized on the alleged osspicion of being about to sail for Africa, for a cargo of slaves. The charge was proved to be groundless and frivolous, yet he could not get his vessel. An appeal was made to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington, who ordered her release. The order was disregarded, and the owner, at length, to recover his property and avoid further expense, paid a large sum, we think $2,000, for heasurender." $2,000, for her surrender.

In this way we are ruining our own com nerce in the pretence of stopping the slavetrade, while the only other result of that cost'y and ruinous crusade has been the horrors of the middle passage and two or three cargoes of negroes sent to apprenticeship in Liberia.

Not by Special Dispatch from Fort Smith.

The regular telegraphic report to the Associated Press brought yesterday the starting intelligence from Fort Smith, Arkansas, that "The Fort Smith Rifles, commanded by Captain Sparks, paraded the streets this evening, making a very creditable and imposing appearance."

The public mind may now be easy about the defense of our Western fronticr, since the Fort Smith Rifles have paraded, with an imposing appearance. It is quite unpardonable that the report did not inform an anxious public of the execution done by the Fort Smith Rifles on the water-melons, pone, whisky and female hearts of Fort Smith.

UNEXPECTED RESULT OF AN ELOPEMENT, The other day, a young man, having fallen in love with a damsel residing in Royal Oak, Michigan, and finding some difficulty in obtaining the favorable countenance of the father, eloped with her, making his way to Detroit, and taking passage on a steamboat for his fature home. Just as the boat was about to start, the infuriated father rushed about to start, the infuriated lather rustied on board, and proceeded to threaten the abductor of his daughter with a caning. Blinded by his passion, he did not remark that the plank had been hauled ashore, and he was accordingly carried off, thus presenting the unique spectacle of a family elopement. It was understood that the father was induced to give away his child with a good induced to give away his child with a good grace, in consideration of which he was paid his return passage money by the son-in-law.

Garibaldi, according to a correspondent of L'Eco d'Italia, writing from Milan, June 27, contemplates a feat which will throw all his previous exploits in the shade. This is no more than a sudden invasion of the States of the Church by sea, and a march upon Rome. It is thought that, in such an event, the Pope will have to seek refuge in Austria.

Priliadelphia, July 25.—A Douglas Mass and Delegate State Convention meets at Harrisburg to-morrow afternoon, and the prospects are of a large attendance.

Mr. Hickman's Republican speech contained a severe denunciation of Mr. Douglas's course on Kansas, preferring that of Mr. Breckinridge as outspoken and evident, while that of Mr. Douglas was concealed and tricky. The speech created considerable excitement among the friends of Douglas, and will probably call forth numerous able replies. It is understood that Jno. B. Haskin will reply at Westchester, Mr. Hickman's own district.

St. Louis, July 25.—An extra of the Bonham (Texas) Era office, dated the 17th inst.,
was received here to-night. The overland mail contains a letter from Chas. R. Pryor, editor of the Dallas Herald, stating that the fire in that place on the 8th inst. led to the discovery of a diabolical plan to devastate
the whole of Northern Texas. White men, friends of the Abolition preachers, Blunt and McKinney, who were expelled from the country last year, were the instigators of the plot. The plan was to lay the whole country waste by fire, destroying all arms, ammunition, &c., to get the country in a state of tion, &c., to get the country in a state of helplessness, and then on the election day in August, to make a general insurrection, aided by emissaries from the North and parties friendly to the cause in Texas. Their sphere of operations was districted and subdis-tricted, each division being under the supervision of a white man who controlled the negroes as subordinates.
